

School of Natural Resources

WEATHERFEST

University of Nebraska–Lincoln

National Geographic

A variety of hands-on activities and exhibits, Weatherfest brings scientists, kids, and adults together to explore science and the ways weather touches us all.

Play games, build community, and experience the wonders of weather.

Weatherfest & Central Plains Severe Weather Symposium

UNIVERSITY OF Nebraska
Lincoln®

<http://weatherfest.unl.edu>

An event that will take your interest by storm.

Ken Dewey

History:

Weatherfest began in 1999 and has continued to educate the public about severe weather and how to be better prepared. We seek to ensure that every person can survive – and thrive – in the natural variety of our climate.

Organized By:

The School of Natural Resources
University of Nebraska–Lincoln

For more information:

<http://weatherfest.unl.edu>

#UNL Weatherfest

Contact:

Dr. Ken Dewey
Applied Climate Science
School of Natural Resources, UNL
715 Hardin Hall, 3310 Holdrege St.
Lincoln, NE 68583-0997
402-472-2908

The University of Nebraska–Lincoln is an equal opportunity educator and employer.