

How to Add a Publication to Your SNR Profile

The previous publication list in the SNR Profiles had some problems and was different than the publication list in Nebraska Maps and More. These two lists were combined in the last few months and populated with entries from the two lists, from Activity Insight report for 2017 and submitted CVs. This combined list now is what is used to show the publications in your profile. There may have been some errors in assigning publications to appropriate authors so please check your profile listing.

Assigning a publication to your profile

1. Log in to your profile via your profile page and the "Update your Profile" link

Publications available through Digital Commons

Your journal articles possibly can be made available to the public via Digital Commons which is managed by UNL Libraries. The major advantage of referencing your publication through Digital Commons on your SNR Profile is larger free access. Sometimes online version of journals only make the title or an abstract available free to the public. Digital Commons has purchase subscriptions that allow a larger audience to view/download your journal articles to the public free of charge. Take to Jacki Loomis in Nebraska Maps and More about this service.
